

16th July 2020

Government funded business growth!!

I am sure that we can all agree that the announcements made in the budget last week will benefit the Conveyancing industry in a very positive way. From an SDLT reduction to an increased budget for apprenticeship training and incentives to employ or enrol new apprentices.

The Conveyancing Academy has secured government funding to deliver the CLC level 4 and 6 licensed conveyancer apprenticeships. This funding, along with the incentive payments for employing or enrolling new apprentices, means that most legal practices will now be paid to train their trainee Conveyancers! This incentive is only in place for the next 6 months, and so perhaps now is the time to recruit new staff as the market grows and train them free of charge using the government apprenticeship scheme.

110% government funding for all new apprenticeships! The new government scheme provides for a £2000 incentive for any apprentice employed under 25 and a £1500 incentive for any apprentice employed over 25.

With the new apprenticeship provisions in place the Conveyancing Academy are discussing the option of fully funding in house training teams with legal practices of a certain size. A new Trainee Conveyancer Level 3 apprenticeship is about to be launched by the Conveyancing Academy, which will allow legal practices to train new staff, from complete novices into competent conveyancers within 6 – 12 months.

For further information please contact:

- Lloyd Davies, Managing Director, The Conveyancing Academy. Email: ldavies@conveylaw.com
- James Smith, Business Development Manager, The Conveyancing Academy - Phone: 01633 261295
Email: jsmith@conveyancingacademy.com

NOTES TO EDITORS

The Conveyancing Academy is an established online training and apprenticeship provider. We are accredited and regulated by the Scottish Qualification Authority to provide CLC Conveyancing Diplomas, Apprenticeships and training courses. All of our courses have been endorsed by both the Conveyancing Association and the Society of Licensed Conveyancers. We have worked closely with the Council for Licensed Conveyancers and government in the development and the improvement of Conveyancing apprenticeship programmes. We provide first-class conveyancing and legal – office compliance training, developed by leading professionals and utilising our revolutionary online delivery. We work with many leading conveyancing legal practices nationwide, helping them to develop their staff and to build their business.

The Society of
Licensed Conveyancers

Conveyancing Academy Managing Director, Lloyd Davies commented:

“This is a unique opportunity for our industry, with the government eager to support professional training. We are talking to a number of conveyancing practices about the possibility of placing in house trainers – tutors in their business to oversee apprenticeship training. Existing in house trainers are keen to come on board and enjoy our learning framework and support, whilst legal practices are relieved of the training costs.”

“Our in house training Academy at Convey Law has allowed us to train 5 new conveyancers every month for the last 10 months. They learn as they work, with our training courses and auditing regime facilitating their knowledge and enabling them to develop into highly competent and proficient conveyancers within a matter of months.”

“We would welcome discussion with legal practices of all sizes to see how we can assist them with their training and business growth development needs at this critical time for our industry.”

For additional information please contact Business Development Manager James Smith on 01633 261295 / jsmith@conveyancingacademy.com www.conveyancingacademy.com/government-funding/

For further information please contact:

- Lloyd Davies, Managing Director, The Conveyancing Academy. Email: ldavies@conveylaw.com
- James Smith, Business Development Manager, The Conveyancing Academy - Phone: 01633 261295
Email: jsmith@conveyancingacademy.com

NOTES TO EDITORS

The Conveyancing Academy is an established online training and apprenticeship provider. We are accredited and regulated by the Scottish Qualification Authority to provide CLC Conveyancing Diplomas, Apprenticeships and training courses. All of our courses have been endorsed by both the Conveyancing Association and the Society of Licensed Conveyancers. We have worked closely with the Council for Licensed Conveyancers and government in the development and the improvement of Conveyancing apprenticeship programmes. We provide first-class conveyancing and legal – office compliance training, developed by leading professionals and utilising our revolutionary online delivery. We work with many leading conveyancing legal practices nationwide, helping them to develop their staff and to build their business.

The Society of Licensed Conveyancers

